THE EUROPEAN BLUE FLAG

flies on all our beaches.

THE BEACH CODE

For your safety, choose the areas supervised by a lifeguard and keep an eye on the warning flags and signs on the beaches.

➤ These areas are organised and supervised by a team of lifeguards who can be found in the first-aid posts every day from 11am to 6.30pm (details for each beach in the corresponding insert). If an accident occurs while they are on duty (flag flying over the first-aid post), alert them immediately. At other times, call the emergency services (sapeurs-pompiers) on 18 or 112.

➤ Don't rush into the sea particularly after spending a long time in the sun.

➤ Keep a close eye on your children while they are in or near the water and help them to remember your position on the beach by pointing out landmarks, such as the totem poles on Richelieu and Le Grau d'Agde beaches, put there for that purpose.

➤ Access for people with reduced mobility is made easier with the wooden boards installed from the beginning of June to 15 September. Also special wheelchairs adapted for bathing ("tiralo" type) are available at Le Grau d'Agde, Saint - Vincent, Richelieu West and East, La Roquette and the Port Nature naturist beach, during opening periods for life-guard stations.

➤ Use the marked - out "beach access" paths and stay within the wooden fences, to protect the vegetation and avoid trampling on the dunes.

➤ In order to maintain the quality and cleanliness of the coastline, a municipal beach by-law has been passed forbidding access for dogs and horses from 1 May to 31 October, motorised vehicles and windsurfing between 9.30 and 7.30pm from 1 May to 31 October, as well as peddling goods, camping and camp fires.

NATURA 2000 MARINE AREA "POSIDONIES DU CAP D'AGDE"

Welcome to a territory that is committed to sustainable development of the marine environment! The Natura 2000 site covers a marine area of 5.5km. Around Brescou Island, in the heart of the Marine Area, there is a wealth of nature, such as the seagrass meadows and coral reefs, the little Mediterranean rocky areas of Grande Conque, Rochelongue and Battus and the sandy habitats stretching along the beaches. You'll also see dolphins here from time to time!

It is also an area where most of the maritime activities take place, such as boating, diving, and

VOLCANIC ACTIVITY

THE BASALT CAUSSES, MONT SAINT-LOUP AND THE CLIFFS OF CAP D'AGDE

The Mediterranean destination of Le Cap d'Agde is a land of volcanoes. There are many geological sites where you can find the famous "black rock". The black sand on la Grande Conque beach, Mont Saint-Loup and the basalt Caux and Nizas Causse make this a unique and intriguing area. Many works of art and church, particularly the churches of Agde has been carved out of this basalt and volcanic rock. Le Mont Saint-Loup is the youngest volcano above sea level in the Pys d'Auvergne chain. Its eruption (around 750 000 years ago), and those of other undersea volcanoes in the chain, played a large role in the formation of the Cap d'Agde landscape. Not accessible by car.

PETANQUE AND BOULE LYONNAISE

Here, the game of boules, and pétanque (French boules) in particular, is part of everyday life. Our passion for the game is passed down from generation to generation and is essential to our way of life. We indulge in fierce games where we try to distract the other team.

You'll find municipal boules pitches in towns and villages where you can join friendly, head-to-head or team games.

And to familiarise yourself with the rules of this sport, we advise you to watch the official competitions that take place during the summer.

Feminine and extravagant, Agde, the "Black Pearl of the Mediterranean", reveals its exuberant artistic talent to a few lucky visitors. Its dark façades in volcanic rock hide a blinding array of masterpieces. A town at the confluence of rivers and cultures, a pearl of pearls nourished by the interweaving of diverse influences, illuminated by a unique and spectacular Art Deco lighthouse and the iconic Villa Laurens. Since 2012, the Black Pearl Gallery showcases the work of artists from the South of France and the banks of the Mediterranean. Every year, two themed exhibitions present a selection of paintings, sculptures and unique objets d'art. It's also the starting point for the Art and the Black Pearl Workshop circuit, frequented by around thirty artists in residence.

Gastronomy and culinary craftsmen

LOCAL SPECIALITY

THE BRASUCADE OF MUSSELS

For pleasant summer evenings with family or friends, there is nothing better than a "brasucade" of mussels on the barbecue. The word "brasucade" comes from the Occitan regional dialect word "brasa-cauda", meaning "hot embers". All you need to do is to cook the shellfish in a large pot over the fire, then once open serve with your choice of sauce: garlic, chilli, olive oil, tomatoes, peppers, onions... It's up to you to prepare your favourite Mediterranean - style sauce!

THE BEST PLACES FOR CULINARY DELIGHTS:

A la carte menu available in many restaurants. Every year in late August, a World Championship sees the best culinary minds in Agde come together.

MOLIÈRE AND PÉZENAS

Blessed with a rare theatrical gift, Jean-Baptiste Poquelin, better known as Molière, was an actor, troupe leader and playwright. In 1650, he left the capital with his "L'illustre Théâtre" company and arrived in Pézenas, the city that would make him successful and ensure the survival of his name to this day. As Marcel Pagnol wrote: "Jean-Baptiste Poquelin may have been born in Paris, but Molière was born in Pézenas." The love affair between Molière and Pézenas has endured for nearly four centuries.

And to this day, the city pays homage to this illustrious figure every year in June, with the "Festival Molière: Le théâtre dans tous ses éclats", at the Vulliod-Saint-Germain Museum, which houses his armchair, and with the shows and at the "Illustre Théâtre" throughout the year.

Find all our guided tours and cultural entertainment throughout the year in our "Going out" program available in all our Tourism Information Offices!

LOCAL SPECIALITIES AND ARTISANS

PÉZENAS BERLINGOTS

Little batons of sugar that come in lots of different flavours (aniseed, mint, coffee, lemon etc.).

The origin of this sweet is unknown. Legend has it that, one market day in perhaps the 17th or 18th century, an African man in the traditional dress of his country stood in the bustling streets of Pézenas, selling passers-by pieces of an enormous cooked sugar loaf perched on top of a wooden plate on his shoulder, and surrounded by a huge crowd of wide-eyed and hungry children.

Before his return journey to faraway Africa, he repaid the baker who had given him a place to stay and lent him his tools by entrusting him with the secret to how the loaf was .

LES PETITS PÂTÉS FROM PÉZENAS

This spool-shaped sweet and savoury speciality, delicately flavoured with lemon, has been a source of pride for the city of Pézenas since the 18th century. Brought to Pézenas in the 18th century by the English cook of Commander-in-Chief of India Lord Clive, who stopped for a rest in the city with his entourage, it can be eaten warm or cold, as a main meal with a salad or as a starter, and should be accompanied by a dry or sweet white wine.

Beaches

PLAGE DE LA REDOUTE

This is one of the largest beaches on the Portiragnes seaside resort. Its location next to a hotel and shops is another advantage. When you head towards Vias-Plage (to the East), the beach becomes more rugged. It is accessible from the town centre via the Seafront Boulevard.

PETANQUE

Here, the game of boules, and pétanque (French bowls) is part of everyday life. Our passion for the game is passed down from generation to generation and is essential to our way of life. We indulge in fierce games where we try to distract the other team.

You'll find municipal boules pitches in Portiragnes where you can join friendly, head-to-head or team games. And to familiarise yourself with the rules of this sport, we advise you to watch the official competitions that take place during the summer.

THE BESSAN CROUSTADE

For over 100 years, Bessan has been the home of the famous croustade. This flaky pastry is filled with a delicious cream made from dark chocolate, lemon zest and walnuts. The croustade was invented by housewives who, when night had fallen, crept into the village bakery and cooked it in the oven there. 100% finger linching!

WINE FULL OF CHARACTER

The Hérault Méditerranée growing region, located between basalt knolls and an alluvial plain and enjoying generous amounts of sunshine, provides a very rich vineyard area. The vineyard, which has been cared for by human hands since ancient times, is home to at least 3 AOC (AOP) and 5 IGP.

The maritime influence of the coast creates wine which is fresh, smooth and elegant. As for the scrubland, it produces strong, full-bodied and rounded wine.

The Pézenas and les Grès de Montpellier growing regions in the heart of the AOC Languedoc create gourmet, robust and rounded wines with hints of red berries, and is excellent with cooked and grilled meat with a southern twist.

TASTE the AOP Picpoul de Pinet: a clear, sometimes golden white wine with a delicate nose of subtle acacia and hawthorn flowers, delicate on the palate, balanced, and great for accompanying fish and shellfish as well as cheese and charcuterie.

Discover la Clairette d'Adissan with its dry or sweet white wines with a bright yellow colour that subtly complement foie gras, fish, white meat and cheese.

LÉZIGNAN SWEET ONIONS

They are easily recognised by their flat and elongated form. As their name suggests, they are sweet, and so ideal raw or in a salad.

They are also known as "cèbe" (from "ceba", the Occitan word for "onion"), and they won't make you cry! The onions are harvested between June and August. You'll find them for sale on the markets or along Lézigian's main road. The first weekend in July, Lézigian celebrates its "cèbes" during its annual fair.

TOURIST TAX

Professionals who rent accommodation (rooms, apartments, villas, camping pitches) in the communes of Hérault Méditerranée charge a Tourist Tax (Taxe de Séjour) to customers. This tax applies throughout the year. The amount is calculated by multiplying the applicable tax rate by the number of nights and the number of people who stay in the accommodation.

This tax enables the Tourism Office to implement initiatives and organise services for our visitors.
